Jack Kirsch, uncle to the deceased, of Grand Island and Mr. Rhyon of Council Bluffs were the only out-of-town relatives who attended. The father and mother were unable to be here. After the body arrived it was learned that Kirsch was killed by a train and that he did not die of heart trouble as was first thought. Practicing Forethought.
Forethought looks beyond the obstacle to ultimate results. It reaches out constructively for a way to get over, through or around that which hinders the realization of its object.

Forethought when exercised develops the imagination. The mind accustomed to thinking ahead soon acquires vision. This leads to freedom in a higher degree. The one who takes no forethought is surprised, cast down, discouraged, when anything goes wrong. Such a one is enslaved, imprisoned, as it were, by a wall of circumstances. The one accustomed to use forethought is far less the slave of circumstance. Such a one learns to look for a way by which to turn the unpleasant experience into profitable results. He uses his imagination to find a way out. He thinks constructively instead of just blindly giving in to fate. He has learned that by forethought and imagination, by creative, constructive thinking, he can find new ways to success when one way is blocked.—Nautilus.

Mrs. A. G. Westberg, 708 W Fourth street, North Platte, Neb., says: "I had a dragging pain in my back and trouble with my kidneys. A doctor diagnosed my case as a floating kidney. Many a day I was unable to stand on account of the pain through my kidneys and the kidney secretions were unnatural. An operation was advised, but luckily I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply from McDonnell & Graves' Drug store (now Schiller & Co's) and began using them. A few days' use removed the pains and restored my kidneys to their proper working order. I hold, if anything, a higher regard for Doan's Kidney Pills now than when I recommended them some years ago. Another of my family has since been troubled by kidney complaint and has had a world of good from this remedy."
